

SAT Percentiles

What's a percentile?

Your SAT percentile ranking is a comparison of your SAT score with everyone else who took the test. Specifically, your percentile tells you what percent of students you scored equal to or higher than. For example, a student with an 1180 Composite would have a percentile of 73. That student beat or tied 73% of other students' Composite score. The SAT will give you a percentile ranking for your composite score as well as the individual EBRW and Math scores.
