On the left, a list of test dates is shown in reverse chronological order: Superscore, April 2023, March 2023, February 2023, and December 2022. A callout bubble points to the 'Superscore' link, stating 'Your highest section scores across all test dates'. Another callout bubble points to the 'March 2023' link, stating 'Test scores are displayed in reverse chronological order'. On the right, there is a section titled 'Informational articles from act.org' with links for 'Make Sense of Your Scores', 'What is a Superscore?', 'Superscore Calculator', 'What did Colleges and Agencies Receive?', and 'MyReports'. A callout bubble points to this section.

- Click on the test date you would like to expand.

The screenshot shows the ACT Scores page with the 'April 2023' test date expanded. A red mouse cursor is clicking on the 'April 2023' link. Below the expanded date, there is a large green circle containing the number '31', labeled 'Composite'. To the right of the composite score are five smaller green circles containing the section scores: Math (29), Science (31), English (33), and Reading (32). A callout bubble points to the composite score, stating 'Average of your four section scores (rounded)'. Another callout bubble points to the section scores, stating 'Section scores'. At the bottom, there is a blue button labeled 'Add TIR' with a red mouse cursor clicking on it. A callout bubble points to this button, stating 'IF YOU HAVE NOT ALREADY PURCHASED THE TIR, CLICK HERE! (Order the TIR during registration for $32, or for six months following the test date for $40. Fee waivers are available.)'.
